

FREE

KICK-OFF EVENT: HOW DO WE KNOW? An Afternoon of Learning and Fun in the Penn Museum

SUNDAY, MARCH 18, 1:00 – 4:00 PM | ALL AGES

How do we know what we know? The Penn Museum invites you to explore scientific inquiry in this fun, FREE event for all ages. Learn through hands-on science and archaeology activities and games, short gallery talks by curators, a scavenger hunt, touchable artifacts, and more! For a full schedule of the day's events, visit bit.ly/teachinpm

Explore Archaeological Science: Study ancient materials under the microscope or with a 3D scanner. Investigate metals, animal bones, ancient plants and ceramics. Learn how trees can be calendars.

Try Experimental Archaeology: Weave on a replica loom and write on clay tablets.

Plus: Join Pop-Up Curator Talks in the Galleries, touch replica artifacts at Cartifact stations, and test your skills at a modern/ancient objects matching game as well as a museum-wide scavenger hunt!

MARCH 18-22
TEACH-IN

Production,
Dissemination, and Use of Knowledge

How Do We Know? An Afternoon of Learning and Fun in the Penn Museum is the kickoff event to the five-day multi-disciplinary University of Pennsylvania Teach-In on the Production, Dissemination, and Use of Knowledge, organized by Penn's Faculty Senate. The first university-wide program of this type in a half-century, the Teach-In is open to students, faculty and the community.

More details and the full schedule of events is available at: www.upenn.edu/teachin.

Penn Museum

3260 South Street, Philadelphia | 215.898.4000 | www.penn.museum